The abilities and achievements of participants will be assessed and recognised by sending institution;
2. Create opportunities for 4 school masters and 12 teachers from vocational school to obtain training during 6 day mobility traineeship in Austrian, Polish, German, Turkish enterprises. The main goal is to introduce to ECVET, its role, and facilitate international learners' mobility. In addition, it would allow personal acquaintance with the practise of foreign enterprises, labour requirements and regulations, learn more about the means to stimulate international mobility and, ultimately, successfully incorporate new knowledge into the qualification system;
3. The plans to raise qualifications during vocational learning abroad, according to the formal curricula set for professions mentioned above, are already generated. In addition to these plans, school has prepared lists, descriptions of qualifications and evaluation rules within 10 unit grading systems. We strive to upgrade all documents to the extent it is possible to employ ECVET as the tool to integrate mobility into the learning system and adapt by all parties engaged in vocational education;
4. We aim to establish ECVET as a beneficial tool enabling to introduce internal quality-focused mechanisms and capable to guarantee the transfer and recognition of grades by the sending education institution;
5. Foster language, professional, social and personal skills, necessary for all learners, who will seek to find their place in the labour marker in future and will be obliged to make independent decisions, taking into account the present and expected externalities;

6. Foster language, professional, social skills, creativity of the employees from the educational institution, to build their capacity in order to prepare young professional for the European labour market.
7. Foster broad, creative and critical thinking as well as positive attitude towards continuous personal and professional development;
8. Assist in mastering new technologies, ideas, methodology and in their application to their professional field, create new products and services.
9. Introduce trainees to new ideas, innovative solutions through work in enterprises, help to better understand labour requirements raised for the today's worker;
10. Generate theoretical package, organise 10-hour training on the topic „ECVET benefits for the educational institution and the participant of mobility traineeship“.
11. Present traineeships's results in the school and for wider public – „ECVET benefits for the educational institution and the participant of mobility traineeship.“

The duration of the project– 5 weeks in Austria, Germany, Poland, Turkey

Pupils will gain practical knowledge through engagement in the work in enterprises, allocated according to their professions. Furthermore, they will attend discussions encouraging participants to discover more information concerning their professions, take part in guided tours to the enterprises, one vocational school, accumulation of learning materials useful for the preparation of final products as well as their distribution. A great attention will be paid to the pupil's cultural and linguistic training before their departure: introduction to the recipient country's culture, customs and traditions, attitude towards business expansion as well as creative ways to introduce to Lithuanian culture and its heritage.

The school masters and teachers will have an opportunity to familiarise themselves with European vocational teaching credit system, its tools and methodology, how system supports the mobility of European citizens and facilitates the process of long life learning.

All participants will improve their general and professional knowledge, language skills and competencies which enable the development of versatile personality: broadens the scope of action, helps to better comprehend international environment. Moreover, trainees will foster their social, personal and psychological skills.
